Teachers Harvey And Lawr Open School For Former Pupils

School opened at the King George school at 9 a.m. today. Some of the children, away from school for ten, 20, 30, 40, and even 50 and 60 years, were mighty glad to get back. "Like 'to be starting all over again,'" they said.

J. F. Harvey, former teacher, now of Lakeland, near Peterboro, rang the bell to bring the school to order. About 60 were present, and only one room was needed.

Waldon Lawr, K. C., Toronto, another former teacher, helped to preside, and later they were joined by Mrs. R. J. D. Simpson (Laura Wilkett), Toronto, and W. L. Kidd, Newmarket.

A. C. West announced that Miss Ironsides "is not too well and will not be present."

"That strap was rather well worn," Mr. Harvey told Trevor Bogart, Chicago architect, after Mr. Bogart had told a story at his own expense.

Leslie Bogart, Tuxford, Sask., had to introduce himself as "Goosey" Bogart before the crowd all recognized him.

"I had a reputation for severity," said Mr. Harvey. "Still I was soft at heart. I had a great affection for all the children. I am glad to be back."

"Twenty-nine years ago I left Newmarket," said Mr. Lawr. "There is a tremendous difference in our viewpoint on life then and now. When I came to Newmarket, the Metropolitan railway was the ideal method of travel. It was extended to Sutton. It was thought that it would be good for generations. The automobile wasn't known then."

Mr. Lawr received a telegram, which he read aloud, from Ernest Bogart, K. C., Toronto, alderman, regretting "inability to be in class this morning."

Mr. Lawr commented on how much the late Edgar Bogart would have liked to be present, and on how much he had done for Newmarket high school.

Those answering present were: Pauline Shupe, 105 Maple Ave., Wexford; Hazel Polter Riggs, 861 Lansdowne Ave., Toronto.

Russell Collins, Orillia; Pearl Smith, Newmarket; Rhoda Willis Watson, R. R. 1, Newmarket; Ruby Thorndike, 2210 Dundas St. W., Toronto; Ruth Fletcher, 10 Simcoe St., Newmarket; Maude Fletcher, 81 Eagle St., Newmarket; Rene Denne Bosworth, Newmarket; Claude Shupe, Toronto; Mabel Menar Bovair, Newmarket; Mrs. Frances Stephens Penrose, Newmarket; Mrs. Dorothy Penrose Hope, Newmarket; Mrs. Alice Burton Eade, Lindsay; Annie Brown Henry, Newmarket; Mary Henry, Newmarket; Art Hill, Newmarket; Lillie Lush (Mrs. W. J. Holliday), Saskatoon, Sask.

Recalls That Era Building Was First Carpentry Job

FRED J. RAPER WAS MEMBER OF PIONEER NEWMARKET FAMILY

An "old boy" of such vintage that he fears he will not meet any of his old pals at the reunion is Fred J. Raper of Meaford, who is visiting the scenes of his boyhood this weekend.

Mr. Raper will be 86 next October. He left Newmarket when he was 17.

He told The Era Thursday how his great-grandfather, Jos. Raper, had come out from Yorkshire, and had started a tailoring shop in Toronto, then known as Muddy York. Later they moved to Newmarket in the very early days, when the village was surrounded by bush, and set up a tailoring shop on Garbutt Hill.

"My father, J. S. Raper, was born in Newmarket," Mr. Raper replied in answer to questions. "He was a commercial traveller, a salesman in a store and then he went into the hotel business. We had a hotel on the west side of Main St. next to the corner of Water and Main, and next to the Royal Canadian Bank building. Our old building has been gone for many years. My mother, Sarah Bolan, was born in Ireland."

Mr. Raper was born in Lloyd-town, where his father had taken his family for a few years, and where they had a store. They returned to Newmarket when Fred was eight years old. Mr. Raper was shocked on revisiting Lloydtown to find most of the old buildings torn down and the town so much smaller. "I attended the 'old district school' on the hill," Mr. Raper explained, returning to his Newmarket recollections. "It was the old three-roomed frame school, later torn down and replaced by the brick building. My teachers were Miss Guthrie, Miss Sullivan, Miss Fraser, Robert Alexander, and my last teacher was Alexander Muir."

"I became a carpenter's apprentice and my very first job was on The Era building," Mr. Raper recalled. "The carpenter was a man named Southard. When I was 17 we moved to Aurora and ran the Queen's hotel for three years. Then we moved to Meaford, where we also kept a hotel, and I assisted and tended bar. Later, when the hotel was sold I went back to carpentering. I have lived in Meaford ever since."

Mr. Raper married Miss Edith Smith of Meaford. His wife died within the last year and since then Mr. Raper has lived with one of his two sons, Claude Raper, of Meaford.

IS BACK FOR REUNION

E. J. Barry of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., in town for the reunion, called at The Era office on Friday morning. He runs a cleaning and pressing business in Sault Ste. Marie. Mr. Barry recalled how when he was a boy Mr. Jackson of The Era had threatened to put him in jail for making so much noise on the street.

TOWN'S FIRST MAYOR HAD 6 WEEKS SCHOOL

BUSINESS GENIUS WAS WILLIAM CANE, FOUNDER OF FACTORY

CREEK WAS RIVER THEN

Days when the York forests were being cleared for farming and the timber was brought to Newmarket to be turned into doors, sashes, wheelbarrows, and woodenware of all kinds, were recalled for The Era last week by Eugene Cane, Prospect St., one of Newmarket's senior citizens, who will be attending the reunion.

William Cane, Newmarket's first mayor, had a career as brilliant as that of Dick Whittington, who became mayor of London.

"My father, William Cane, moved here from East Gwillimbury when I was 14," said Mr. Cane, when asked questions.

"William Cane was born in the United States and came with his parents to Mariposa township," said Mr. Cane. "His parents died in Mariposa and he came to Newmarket to live. He boarded on Yonge St., chopping hardwood to pay his board while he went to school. But six weeks school was all that he had in his entire life."

"He started making wooden pumps. He turned to making wood-work for wagons. There was no money in circulation. It was all trade. He would give the blacksmith the wood for one wagon in return for ironing off three wagons, and then he would trade the wagons for grain."

"He quit the wagon business and built a saw-mill north of Queensville. East Gwillimbury was covered with pine. I was born in Queensville. Later on, he moved to the fifth concession of East Gwillimbury. He teamed the lumber from his mill to Holland Landing and shipped it."

"Holland Landing was bigger than Newmarket then, and more business was done there."

"In 1874, when I was 14, my father came to Newmarket and built a wood factory on the north side of Huron St., where the Dixon Pencil Co. now is, and a saw-mill on the flats south of Huron St., near the radial right-of-way."

"We had a dam near the saw-mill. The flots were not large enough to pile up the logs, which we drew in in the winter on sleighs, and so we piled the logs up on the banks of the river (Bogartown creek), to Srigley St., and floated them down as they were needed. There was a lot more water in the river in those days."

Wm. Cane was a business genius. He started in Newmarket manufacturing sashes, doors and all sorts of building materials. Year by year he added new products, churns, wheelbarrows, tubs, pails, washboards, clothes-

First Girl Twins "Arrive"

One of Newmarket's first girl twins was in The Era office today (Friday). She is Mrs. Emily Haskett O'Neill, now of Toronto, formerly of Winnipeg. Her twin sister is Mrs. (Louise) Thomas Moran, Biggar, Sask.

They were showered with gifts and their parents didn't have to buy many baby clothes for them.

Another sister of Mrs. O'Neill was with her, Helena Haskett (Mrs. Benjamin Hance), Macdon Centre, New York.

Mrs. Hance stated that her twin sisters were named after Wm. Roe, Newmarket's first postmaster, and a sister of Mrs. T. O. Townley, Newmarket, and after Kathleen Louise Bentley, daughter of Dr. John Bentley, Newmarket's famed physician and manufacturing druggist.

Mrs. Hance herself was named after Helena Hackett, daughter of Dr. Hackett, of Newmarket, her mother's physician.

While here they are guests at the Lewis homestead, Yonge St., and at the home of Miss Minnie Doyle and T. F. Doyle.

MILKMAN RANG BELL, BUTCHER BLEW TRUMPET

CHARACTERS AND PERSONALITIES OF EIGHTIES RECALLED

WRITES FROM U. S. A.

Mrs. James Adie, (Katie Smith), Point Pleasant, West Virginia, wired her lifelong friend, Mrs. J. H. Elvidge, today, that she would be unable to attend the reunion as she had expected. Mrs. Adie wishes to be remembered to all the old boys and girls attending the reunion.

By KATIE SMITH
(Mrs. James Adie, 324 N. Martin St., Titusville, Pa.)

Dear Old Timers of the gay eighties: Let me recall to your memory others of that era. Remember that courtly gentleman, Allan Ramsay, who from some childish ailment went all the rest of his days with his head carried very much on one side?

I've not mentioned the Bastedo family before. Mr. Bastedo was the good looking postmaster of that day, with a family of nice looking boys and girls. Elta and Cecil went to school with me. Remember School Inspector Davidson and his visits to our classes?

Believe it or not, we had an "Annie Laurie" going to school with us in those days. She and May Warner were inseparable. Jesse Doan used to drive into town with his pony and dog-cart.

Mr. Savage was our chief constable. He lived on Main St. near the old Hewitt hotel. Reminds me how clever Hughie Hewitt was as a child, in vaudeville stuff.

Do you recall Jack Eck and his cousin, Gerald Pearson? Fair time was the high-light of the fall. I paid ten whole cents back in 1890, to hear a phonograph record, played from a wax cylinder with ear-phones like a doctor uses in his stethoscope.

Mr. Urquhart was our butcher and on certain days of the week he visited our neighborhood in his butcher's wagon. He wore a blue smock and, coming over the hill, he stood up and blew a long silver horn. Our dog soon learned there was a bone or meal scraps to be had when Mr. Urquhart came by, so he was always down at the gate to greet him.

One day my mother called to the butcher asking him to bring some meat up to the door, which he did. However, the pup didn't recognize Mr. Urquhart when off his wagon and took a nip at the back of his leg. Mr. U. was quite indignant, vowing never to give that dog another bone, but I don't think he kept the vow.

Mr. Robt. Millard, the milkman, also drove by, ringing a bell. We hastened down to the

Reunion Opening Tonight

Disappointing rain postponed the official opening of the reunion on Thursday evening until Friday evening.

Sir William Mulock will be present this evening (Friday), to declare the reunion under way.

A. C. West, manager of the reunion, made the announcement last evening before the grandstand, which was well filled for the stage show.

Sand was used on the dance floor to dry it off, but after this was done, the rain came again.

The track and grounds were muddy, and everybody was disappointed. They kept saying, however, "Better rain tonight than Friday and Saturday."

The program goes on as usual.

REMEMBER MAPLE LEAFS OF 1892?

Thursday Night Show Amuses In Spite Of Rain

MCLEODS OFFER CLEVER STAGE SHOW ON OPENING NIGHT

Working against the handicap of a wet platform and a bountiful heaven, the McLeod brothers of Queensville brought to Newmarket's old boys' reunion on Thursday evening one of the snappiest stage shows seen in these parts for a long time past. The grandstand was pretty well filled.

Norman McLeod got the talent together and Fred McLeod was master of ceremonies. They are presenting a totally different show on each occasion, Thursday evening, Friday evening, Saturday afternoon and Saturday evening.

The "Six Co-eds" were smart. They didn't seem to mind a slippery floor, although one girl did take a tumble. They could dance and they did dance.

Then there was Ted Rust, the ventriloquist, and Pat, the dumbest dummy you ever heard. In spite of their own protestations, this couple are more amusing than the famous Edgar Bergen and Charles McCarthy, for Edgar and Charlie's principal audience don't see them at work. You have to see the ventriloquist and his dummy to really enjoy it. This fellow Rust smiles while the dummy talks. He probably uses television.

Art McColl, the strong man, was strong as Samson. He bit a spike in two. He bent a spike. He lifted a table with his teeth. He lifted a hefty lad with his teeth. He resisted the effort of ten men to pull his arms apart. He was tough and he was strong, and he did a number of other unbelievable feats.

A roller-skating number was cancelled because of the wet platform.

Dorothy Merrill with the accordion delighted everybody. Claire Rouse, the musical hobo, and later as an admiral and Scotsman, was one of the hits of the evening. The young people who had expected to dance liked his tunes, on many different instruments, and kept time with their feet, as consolation for not dancing. Isabel Percy was the pianist, playing under cover of a tarpaulin.

SEPARATE SCHOOL, OLD BOYS WILL MEET

On Saturday morning at 11 o'clock, all ex-pupils of the Separate school are asked to gather at the school, Ontario St., with Walter Cahn, former teacher, now deputy minister of lands and forests, who will call the roll. A good turnout is requested.

TOWN LADIES WILL ENTERTAIN "OLD GIRLS"

On Friday afternoon, June 30, all the "old girls" home for the reunion will be guests of the local ladies at the home of Mrs. W. L. Bosworth, North Main St. Afternoon tea will be served from 3 to 5.30 p.m., and all the ladies of the town are invited to the Bosworth home to have an afternoon chat with their former school friends.

TO THE CITIZENS OF NEWMARKET

The only way we can make the Old Boys' Reunion a success is to patronize the entertainment at the fair grounds, as often as possible.

Come and bring your friends. The committee has provided a real show of clean sport and amusement each afternoon and evening beginning Thursday night.

The price is low and the fun is plenty. Come and let us all enjoy ourselves with our visiting friends "the Old Boys and Girls."

HOME AGAIN!

Welcome home! This week the Newmarket family are gathered together as they never have been before and as they will not be again probably for many years to come. Unfortunately, all who should or would like to be here cannot be, but many of them are at least with us in their thoughts. We think of old-time Newmarket people, perhaps resident in the west or in the United States, whose early memories have been stirred up by this reunion, but whose health or whose wealth does not permit them to return home for these four days of celebration.

Wanderers

A home-coming like this makes one reflect on the queer tricks played by geography. The Peace River country beckons to a Newmarket man, and he leaves his own people and journeys over 2,000 miles and settles down there beyond the visit radius of his own kin. Except for an occasional letter, he is as far removed from his own people as though he were in the land of the leal. Why do people do it? Why do brothers and sisters not settle down together and build their homes side by side? Why do distant fields look so green?

A Diminishing World

We do not propose to give the answer except to say that life's like that. Life has always been like that, and until recent years it looked as though it always would be like that. But what's happening now? First there were the steam locomotive and the steamship, and then the automobile and the aeroplane, telegraph, telephone and radio, and soon television, all bringing the wanderers closer together again. One hundred years ago, when the first steam locomotives and steamships were in the "impossible" period, a family left home in England, Scotland or Ireland for a home in Upper Canada amid the tears of relatives who knew that they would never see them again. Even to exchange letters would take at least three months.

Stratosphere Planes Perhaps

But now there is no reason to cry if our brothers and sisters go to the ends of the earth, for they are within sound of our voices by telephone, within reach by aeroplane in a few hours, and they go to the same movies, hear the same radio programs, and some of them may help to develop even more rapid means of communication than we have now. For Newmarket's next reunion perhaps the fair grounds will be used as a landing-field for the visitors' stratosphere planes.

MORE CONSERVATION SURVEYS

What is being done about King township conservation? Are our governments interested in the subject? The answer seems to be that the governments, reflecting public opinion, are mildly interested. The provincial department of lands and forests has authorized surveys of two watersheds in Durham county. The purpose is to secure information about the use of marginal lands (those which give doubtful returns for time and labor spent on them [a definition which would seem to include some mighty fine farms]); erosion by wind and water; use of wood by individuals and commercial dealers, and the possibility of retaining moisture by proper soil cover and small retaining dams in ravines.

Governments Don't Rush

Our thought is why should we spend more money on surveys, when we haven't acted on the information already gathered and published in the Davis-Mayall report on King township. But we see the point made by an editor-conservationist, Hugh Templin, Fergus News-Record, who comments: "A similar study, financed by one individual, was made recently in King township, York county. The report issued on that occasion seems valuable, but it is obviously necessary to make similar studies in several parts of the province. It is possible that important and valuable advantages can be secured at little outlay as a result of these studies."

FORTUNATE MR. MCKENZIE

It is no easy matter these days getting a position as a teacher. Teachers may be in many instances poorly remunerated but there is still a great demand for the jobs available. The Fergus News-Record notes that the Fergus public school board had appointed a Mr. McKenzie of Honeywood to its staff, and that he subsequently asked to be released as he had been offered the principalship of Acton public school. The Acton Free Press tells that there were three vacancies in Acton. There were 300 applications for the principal's position, and 400 applications for the other two positions. A considerable number of the 700 applicants interviewed the members of the board personally. Two Acton girls, with several years successful teaching experience, received the lower grade appointments, and Mr. G. W. McKenzie of Honeywood, and Fergus, was appointed principal.

Snappy Work

We read that "the 300 applications for the principalship were first considered. Salary, qualifications and impressions gathered during the personal interviews were all carefully considered by the board. Salaries asked ranged from $900 to $2,000 per year." Mr. McKenzie was appointed at $1,100 a year.

Then They Went Home

One would think that the sorting out of 700 applications would be a heavy evening's work, but we find that this industrious board not only made its three appointments, but drew up its estimates for the year, and "in spite of the heavy docket, the board adjourned about ten o'clock."

WE QUOTE EVIDENCE

On several occasions we have said that larger Ontario weeklies are moving toward the business-like practice of requiring subscriptions to be paid in advance. The Era is still Ontario's only strictly paid-in-advance town or rural weekly, but there will soon be quite a crop of others, we believe. As evidence of the trend we quote the following from the Canadian Statesman, Bowmanville, one of the best known and one of the best weekly newspapers in the dominion: "The generous response of Statesman subscribers in sending in their renewals in advance for 1939 has made it possible for us to make application for an audited circulation commencing July 1. This is a wonderful accomplishment which we hardly thought possible six months ago when we started our campaign of paid-in-advance subscriptions. We greatly appreciate this whole-hearted co-operation on the part of our readers, who have so willingly responded to our appeal. Never in the history of this paper have so many renewed their subscriptions so promptly. Of course, there are a few yet we have not heard from, but we feel sure they will send in their renewals before July 1, as that is the date the auditors from Chicago are scheduled to arrive in town to check over our subscription lists."

"Look at your yellow mailing label now and see if the date is correct, as our mailing lists have been changed for all subscriptions received up to June 17."

ANNUAL SCHOOL EXHIBITION

No matter how often you have been there before, it is always an inspiration to attend the annual exhibition of handicrafts of Newmarket public schools. Everywhere you hear people exclaiming: "Isn't that wonderful!" "How do they do it?" and "We couldn't do things like that when we were in school." The exhibition on Friday evening was superior to the exhibition of the previous year. And others said it was much superior to the exhibitions of two, three and four years ago. Mr. Jackson and Mr. Forbes, the manual training teachers, Miss Denne and Miss Hamby, the household science teachers, and Miss Staunton, the art teacher, are to be congratulated.

Wanted In High School

Two or three high school boys who were present expressed the wish that similar opportunities were offered in high school. It made us think that surely now is the time to begin an informational campaign for the teaching of shopwork and household economics in our high school. We, in Newmarket, usually in the vanguard of progress must not allow ourselves to fall behind. It is true that there are many property-owners who have no direct interest in the high school and are not going out of their way to vote for an addition, however slight, to the tax-rate. It is up to those of us who see advantages in the revised high school curriculum to point out that it would cost Newmarket less than half a mill on the tax rate for 12 to 15 years to erect the necessary wing to the high school and to equip it properly.

Education As A Way Out

There are many of us who urge provincial and federal governments to spend money to alleviate unemployment. We know that there is more waste when federal and provincial governments spend money than when municipalities spend it, for municipalities spend their money under the direct supervision of those who have paid it into the treasury. It would therefore seem logical for us to support a proposal for spending a minimum amount of money to fit our young people better for the difficult world before them. Spending money on education is just as likely to contribute to the solution of present-day economic problems as spending money on public works.

The Common Round

REFUGEES

By Isabel Inglis Colville

I was listening the other day to a Baptist minister telling of the work being done for the Jewish refugees from Germany, Austria and Czechoslovakia. His own work was among Jewish Christians, who, he said, were in some respects the hardest hit, for they came in for no share in the splendid work being done for the persecuted Jews by British and American Jews. He said he would not—could not—assail the ears of his listeners with some—many—of the tales which came before them or which they saw proof of in their work of rescuing as many as possible from the concentration camps.

When he wasn't at work in one of the anti-Jewish countries, went to this worker, he sat in his London office from nine a.m. to seven p.m., and listened to unbelievably horrible tales of ill-treatment, which, he said, would treat a heart of stone, and which left him, often, unable to sleep or eat when he reached his home.

The lot of old people was particularly lamentable. Thrust from their homes, deprived of their possessions and often deprived also of those who normally would have cared for them, they were left to starve and suffer, unless some of the organizations at work could rescue them. At present, those interested in the work are trying to establish a home in Switzerland where these aged, homeless and hopeless men and women may live out their remaining years in the peacefulness to which age is entitled.

As he talked, I looked about me—our little family was together, our surroundings were the familiar ones of a well-loved home—the comfortable chairs, the books like old friends, the piano and violins, asleep at the moment, but ready to wake at a touch and speak to us—how far removed it all seemed from the tale of suffering and sacrifice to which we listened.

And yet, many of those whose stories were so terrible they could only be hinted at, had lived in homes like ours and cherished their belongings and dreamed their dreams, and loved and were loved.

All this, and yet out of a clear sky came the calamity. One day they were citizens of a country; they were doctors, nurses, artists, students and work folk, living normally and doing that work to the best of their ability—which often was very great—and the next day—they were in truth the wandering Jews of the old legend.

My own ancestors were Huguenots and fled from France to establish themselves as linen weavers in Scotland, and I suppose, even after four hundred years, a fellow feeling for refugees permeates the blood of their descendants. But I'm afraid, until I listened to this worker among a persecuted people, I had only said "What a pity," and maybe lay awake a few hours wondering—wondering what it would be like to be unwanted, tortured, and with no hope.

Churches, synagogues and individuals are working—often under difficulties—to relieve the almost intolerable state of affairs, but as this minister said—at best the work is so slow—so much red tape to be untied before a step can be made, that to those depending on help from these organizations it must seem a small eternity.

He spoke of the great work being done—he called it heroic—by the Society of Friends—and as I listened I wondered what we people—so safe and comfortable by comparison—could do. We can all give a little of what we have, we can pray—and "more things are wrought by prayer than this world dreamt of," and we perhaps may come in contact with some of these refugees.

Then surely we can show them that Canada is a land of hopes, and that the people in those homes are a friendly people—a people anxious to help the new Canadians blot out the evil memories and over the clean sheet place new and fine scenes of safe homes, a free country and a tolerance for all religious and racial differences.

WHO WILL BE AT THE REUNION?

BY RUTH DINGMAN HEBB

"Well, this is the big week for the old boys and girls," said Merry Chickadee to her mate, Young Chips. "The town certainly looks gay, with all the flags and other decorations."

"Some of the birds who live on Main St., such as the Purple Martins, will see lots of the doings, but we are rather far away from everything out here," pointed out Young Chips.

"The ones who live over on the other side of town, near the fairgrounds, will certainly see plenty, too," said Merry. "How many, I expect most of them will be busy with their young families and won't have time to take in many of the festivities."

"A lot of the late-nesting birds, who didn't lay their eggs until early in June, have just newly-hatched families to look after right now," said Young Chips. "I know from the way those Kingbird neighbors of ours are acting that their eggs must have been just hatched out in the last two or three days. Merry! If you get within 50 feet of their nest, it's just too bad for you. Talk about having a chip on your shoulder! That couple have a whole woodpile of chips on their shoulders."

"There are lots of other birds that don't nest until the first of June or thereabouts," said Merry. "The dear little Wood Pewee that I like so much, who lives in the apple tree over there, came rushing over to tell me that her eggs were hatched out, only this morning."

And Mrs. D. L. Lepard and Miss Anna Smith attended the wedding of Miss McMahon in Richmond Hill last week.

Some people certainly do take their time about settling down. "The Goldfinches love to line their nests with thistle-down," said Young Chips. "They like to wait until there is plenty of that before they nest."

"That is rather in keeping with their characters," mused Merry. "They are such romantic, light-hearted, flitting creatures, and so like bright flowers."

"You are getting poetic!" laughed Young Chips. "Surely we Chickadees are gay and light-hearted, too."

"Yes, but not in the same way," said Merry. "We have a sort of commonsense cheeriness about us which is quite matter of fact, if you know what I mean. But the Goldfinches are all thistle-down and gossamer, or something."

"They are like butterflies, flitting from thistle to thistle. I'll have to admit," said Young Chips. "But we need all kinds to make a world."

CAMPING DAYS START FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

The camp for Toronto Centre North Presbytery Y. P. U. S. of the United Church, at Camp Ashbyburn, opens today, June 29, and lasts till July 6. The camp is located at Sibbald's Point, three miles east of Jackson's Point, with the camp staff of dean, Rev. D. Woodhouse, Markham; director, Miss Vera Hunter, Lakely; business manager, Miss Hilda Patton, King; recreation, Miss Mariet Maclellan, Agincourt, music, Murray Huntley, Queensville, librarian, Miss Yvonne Marquis, Uxbridge.

The camp provides a real camping experience under ideal conditions, opportunity for enriching fellowships and worthwhile presentations of basic world problems. Bible study during the camp will be led by Rev. Terry Hart of Camilla, using as his theme, "What is God like?" Four study groups are being held for convenors of the local unions.

Missions will be led by Rev. Hugh Shannon, Queensville, with the topic, "So this is mission!" citizenship by Rev. C. E. Fockler, Kewville, talking for his subject, "Jesus' teaching for young people!" fellowship by Miss Blanche Hunter, East Rural, under the heading, "Worship committee in action!" girls' work by Miss Harriet Christie, Toronto; secretary of the Ontario Girls' Work board.

Ten unions have teams playing in the presbytery inter-union baseball schedule, consisting of five boys and four girls, with girls players to grid battles. In the north group of Ravenshoe, Queensville, Shaton and Wesley, Wesley Y. P. U. at present is leading the group.

In the south group, consisting of Mount Pignah, Victoria Square, Temperanceville, King, Lakely and Pottingville, Lakely and Temperanceville are among the winners. The annual Y. P. U. picnic will be held in August this year. Toronto conference executive fellowship camp for the presby-

ACCIDENT MADE HIM MEMBER FOR NORTH YORK, SAYS SIR WILLIAM MULOCK

I planted them all." "Have you always been a planter of trees?" "I have been planting trees for 50 years," he said.

At Hollands House, near Markdale, Sir William said that he had planted 90,000 trees. Six years ago, while employed with the Toronto Star, the writer, in the company of Gregory Clark, special writer, and Tom Wilson, press photographer, visited Sir William's estate in Holland township. Mr. Justice Masten had driven up with Sir William for a day's fishing. Sir William had not only planted thousands of trees but in a little lake on his estate he had planted thousands of trout. The trees have prospered but the trout haven't.

"There is a wonderful difference in these trees now," he said. "I wish you could see them." But he was up there fishing only two weeks ago, and the results were disappointing.

While on the subject of trees, Sir William was asked whether it would pay an ordinary farmer to plant a grove of walnut trees. He was quite amused by some of the fabulous estimates put on the value of his two groves on Yonge St.

The unofficial estimators reckon every tree at an eventual yield of 1,000 board feet, and the value of the wood at $200 a thousand.

"Then they multiply 50,000 trees by $200, and they get millions of dollars," laughed Sir William.

"They overlook the fact that only one tree in 15 or 20 becomes a really big marketable tree," he said. "Another factor is that in the last few years the United States government has had thousands of men planting trees, many of them walnut trees. These walnut trees in the United States will reach maturity before ours do, and may make a very great difference in the value of walnut."

By what right is Sir William a Newmarket old boy?

"My mother moved to Newmarket from Bond Head when I was four years old," he said. "I was the third child. I had an older brother and sister, and two younger sisters. The older brother died."

"My mother was a Newmarket woman. Her father (Cawthra) was a merchant at the northwest corner of Main and Water Sts. She returned to Newmarket when my father died."

"I did the chores about the house cheerfully and pleasantly, chopping the wood, getting the water, looking after the cow. I attended what we called the grammar school."

"My mother was passionately fond of me, for some reason," said Sir William. The mother rendered a judgment which a whole province was to give 90 years later, or perhaps it was that her love so freely bestowed became the greatness of later years.

"My mother pinched herself so that my sisters and myself might have as good an education as possible."

"I left school at 14, feeling that I might make more progress studying by myself. In 1859 (when he was 15) I went to university and graduated in arts in 1863. I then undertook the study of law in the city. My mother desired me to be a lawyer."

In due time Sir William became a lawyer and established a large practice in the city. How then did he become associated again with North York?

"It was an accident," Sir William said. "Dr. Widdifield was the local member, and he was aspiring to the federal nomination."

Officers and local presidents is being held at Sparrow Lake from Aug. 10 to 27, with a very worthwhile program. Two members from the district presbytery executive are helping with the camp. Miss Marian Burkholder of Queensville, Toronto conference Christian culture convener, is leading a group on "Christian Culture," and Miss Hilda Patton is librarian for the camp.

Found
Two men were talking together in the public library. Said one: "The dime novel has gone. I wonder where it's gone to."
The other, who knew something of literature in its various phases, answered cynically: "It's gone to two dollars and fifty cents."

There were some people in the riding who felt that he should have waited his turn and given older men a chance."

Dr. Widdifield, as told by Fred Hartley in last week's Era, gained the provincial nomination over Erastus Jackson, an older man, whom many felt had a better claim. Jackson was subsequently defeated as an independent Reform candidate.

"These dissentients came to me and asked that I should be a candidate for the federal nomination," said Sir William. "I consented on the condition that I was not to be used to split the party, and that I should have complete freedom to change my decision and act as I saw fit at the convention."

"They began to put my name around the riding, and then Dr. Widdifield thought it better to bring the convention on before I had made too much progress. It was away before the election. At the convention I sensed that the convention was overwhelmingly in Dr. Widdifield's favor. I asked my supporters to permit me to withdraw, so that I might nominate Dr. Widdifield and make it unanimous. Dr. Widdifield's nominator withdrew his nomination and I nominated Dr. Widdifield."

"That winter I spent a great deal of time going around the riding with Dr. Widdifield, trying to bring the dissentients back into the fold."

"Then in the spring there was a redistribution of the riding. It was a gerrymander, a most unfair thing. Bradford and West Gwillimbury, two municipalities that returned a Conservative majority, were brought into the riding. It was felt necessary to hold another convention. Dr. Widdifield was again nominated."

"Dr. Widdifield then rose, presumably to make a speech of acceptance. What he said was that he couldn't possibly carry the new riding. What were we to do? It was then the 20th of May and the election was on June 19. They asked me if I would take the nomination. I was so indignant about the redistribution that I accepted."

Sir William was successful, and he went on from success to success.

One of Sir William's early achievements in parliament was the enactment of a law to forbid railway trains to hold up traffic at crossings more than five minutes. Interminable delays to farmers at the Huron St. crossing, Newmarket, led him to take this step.

"It is still the law," he said. Today his grandson is the member for North York, a riding which today, as the result of subsequent redistributions, stretches from Georgina and Sutton to Woodbridge, but no longer includes the municipalities of Bradford and West Gwillimbury of which Dr. Widdifield was afraid.

One more incident is told in conclusion. Sir William attended a church parade in Aurora on Sunday morning.

"I believe that we should attend church, whether we think we benefit or not, as an example," he said. "It is very important that we uphold the church, and what the church represents."

POLICE COURT

PARENTS SURPRISED TO HEAR SON IN JAIL

Convicted on a charge of illegal fishing, Lloyd Brown and Miller Wray, both of Schomberg, were each fined $10 and costs by Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe in police court here on Tuesday.

Game Warden Ernest Prosser testified that he found Brown and Wray at 2 a.m. fishing with a spear and jack-knife and using artificial lights in a stream inhabited by lunge. The spear and jack-knife were both confiscated. Mr. Prosser stated. A second charge of having artificial lights laid against the two men was withdrawn.

A charge of having possession of a lunge laid against Gordon Roberts, Toronto, was smilingly dismissed by the magistrate.

Game Warden Prosser testified that he found Roberts with a 12-pound lunge which he had caught but that Roberts told him he thought the fish was a pike.

"It was only the second time I had ever been fishing," Roberts told the magistrate. "I caught a big fish and as it was the largest fish I had ever seen I asked everyone along the bank what kind it was and they all told me it was a pike. Some time later when the game warden came along he identified the fish as being a lunge."

Crown Attorney N. L. Mathews, K. C., stated that the pike and lunge found in Lake Simcoe are very similar.

Bail of $500 was renewed for Clarence Fuller, King township, who is charged with keeping liquor for sale and having illegal possession of liquor. The charges which were laid by County Constable Aubrey Fleury were adjourned one week for hearing.

On a charge of consuming liquor in an illegal place, Walter E. Davis, Newmarket, was fined $10 and costs and the liquor found was ordered confiscated.

County Constable Ronald Watt testified that he searched Davis' car on June 25, at 12:15 a.m., and that he found three full bottles of beer, a part bottle of gin, two empty beer bottles, and several glasses. Davis and another person had been consuming liquor in the car, the constable stated.

The 17-year-old Aurora youth, who was last week remanded in custody one week for sentence was sentenced to the common jail for 20 days by Magistrate Woodliffe, who dated the sentence back to last week when the conviction was registered.

Lorne Lee, Aurora, who spoke on behalf of the youth, stated that he was only 16 years old.

"The accused told me last week that he was 17," Magistrate Woodliffe stated.

"The parents of the youth both claim they didn't know anything about this case coming up last week," Mr. Lee stated. "A younger brother, who runs the streets, also didn't know about it. Also most of the evidence given against the accused last week was given by a boy younger and of a lower mentality. The father of the accused has been promised a job for him and if a sentence is imposed he'll lose the chance of work."

"Are you asking for a new trial?" asked the magistrate.

"I would like it," answered Mr. Lee.

"I don't see how I can do that, as last week the youth told me he was 17 and that his parents knew about the case coming up," stated the magistrate, who adjourned the case until 2 p.m. for judgment.

The parents of the youth both testified that they did not know anything about the case coming up last week until Constable Dunham returned home from court and told them that their son had been sent to the Don Jail one week while awaiting sentence. The parents also stated that the boy was only 16 and would not be 17 until July 24.

"I am satisfied that the boy has had a fair trial," stated Magistrate Woodliffe. "I hoped that when you were here last time you had learned your lesson but apparently you did not. I warned you if you appeared again, it would be harder for you. You are trying to get into the reformatory and if you keep on you will get there. When you get out of jail get a job, behave yourself, and leave other people's property alone."

A charge of theft of three lawn chairs and a wicker chair laid against five Toronto youths who were captured in Newmarket early last Tuesday morning on a freight train was dismissed by the magistrate. A charge of vagrancy laid against the five was withdrawn. J. F. Colhoun, Toronto, was defence counsel for two of them.

Lindsay Obee, Aurora, testified that he heard someone come up on his veranda early Tuesday morning. Later he heard someone run down the street and then saw two more fellows come along with chairs. The boys dropped the two chairs and ran in the direction of the freight train when he yelled at them, Mr. Obee stated. Mr. Obee identified two of the chairs in the court-room as his.

Mrs. Thos. Smith, Aurora, testified that a wicker chair was also taken from her veranda early last Tuesday morning.

Constable F. Dunham, Aurora, testified that when he arrived at the railway track the freight train was just pulling out and in an empty box-car he saw three deck chairs and the wicker chair but there were no men in the car. Accompanied by County Constable Fleury, he came to Newmarket and got Constable Sloss and went to the railway station, where the freight train was just pulling out. Constable Dunham stated. The chairs were not in the car but in it they found the five Toronto youths, the constable said.

Constable Fleury testified that one of the youths started to run along the side of the train and that Constable Sloss fired a shot in the air. Later the youth was caught. One youth told them where they had put the chairs off the train on the grass near Newmarket.

One youth said that they got on the freight train at Toronto at 1:30 and that they intended to go to Sudbury, but that none of the five got off the train at Aurora, although they heard some boys running alongside the train at Aurora and they had flashlight. "We moved into another box car at Newmarket, as ours smelled of fish, in the car we saw the chairs, and thinking they might have been stolen, we threw the chairs off the train," he said.

The magistrate told the five youths that he would give them the benefit of the doubt and dismiss the charge.

Harry Griesman, Toronto, speeding, $5 and costs, charge laid by Constable Ferguson.

Clifford Temple, Toronto, speeding, $5 and costs, charge laid by Constable Ferguson.

Norman Turnbull, Orillia, attempting to pass, $5 and costs, charge laid by Constable Ferguson.

Samuel Handle, Toronto, bad brakes, $10 and costs, charge laid by Constable J. Jardine.

Walter H. Pooler, Toronto, entering stop street, $1 and costs, charge laid by Constable K. Mount, Newmarket.

A charge of not paying wages laid against James Smith, Queensville, by Allan Jackson was settled by Mr. Smith, who paid the $50 owing and also the court costs.

The charge of keeping liquor for sale laid against Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Cutting, Newmarket, was withdrawn on the request of Crown Attorney Mathews, who stated he didn't believe there was sufficient evidence for a conviction on the selling charge, although the acts of the two accused were suspicious and that the constable was justified in laying the charge. Campbell Line, Richmond Hill, was defence counsel.

The magistrate ordered that a warrant be issued for Harold Murphy, A. E. Smith, H. J. Little, and G. E. Durant, all of Chester, each charged with having illegal possession of liquor in Aurora, if they do not appear in court next week.

After laying a charge of assault against John Dickinson, Toronto, Ernest Griffith, Jackson's Point, asked that the charge be withdrawn and he was ordered to pay the court costs.

Griffith, proprietor of a dance hall at Jackson's Point, stated that he saw Dickinson standing with a glass in his hand and that he knocked the glass out of his hand and threw it out on the street, as he thought that Dickinson was one of the men who had been causing a disturbance around there but that later he found out Dickinson was not one of the men.

Keswick

Rev. C. E. Fockler, for his sermon at the United church on Sunday morning, took for his text Matt. 6:27, "Which of you by taking thought can add one cubit unto his stature?" From this most familiar verse he presented many new and worth-while thoughts, stating very clearly that while man is helpless to add to his bodily growth, yet there are no limitations to his spiritual growth, for with God all things are possible, and it is only that spiritual growth that counts with God. The choir sang a special number. There was no evening service, as Mr. Fockler and the choir assisted Egypt United church in their anniversary celebration.

Commencing Sunday, July 2, the church services and Sunday-school will be held on daylight time. Everyone is asked to tell their neighbors so that there will not be any confusion. Next Sunday morning Rev. F. A. Lawson of Toronto will be guest preacher.

On Sunday, July 9, at the morning service there will be a reception of any new members, a baptismal service for children and a celebration of holy communion.

The annual bazaar will be held under the auspices of the W. A. of the United church on the grounds of the church on Wednesday afternoon and evening, July 26, commencing early in the afternoon with a sale of handwork, of both useful and fancy articles, quilts, aprons, novelties and candies, with a fish pond for the children, followed by a supper at the regular hours and concluding with a well-planned evening program. The ladies are not sparing any effort to make this much anticipated event "bigger and better" than ever. Anyone desiring more information may secure the same from the president of the W. A., Mrs. D. McGentry, or from the convenor of the supper arrangements, Miss Eva Gilroy.

The June meeting of the Keswick Women's Christian Temperance Union was held on the afternoon of June 22 at the home of Mrs. Ernest Winch.

Mrs. Ernest Morton, the president, presided. The meeting was opened by singing the hymn "Am a soldier of the Cross." Mrs. Washington Winch led in prayer. It was decided to purchase anti-narcotic literature for distribution.

Mrs. Perry Winch gave the report from the county convention of York and Peel counties, which was held on May 30 at Willard hall, Toronto. She said that the noonday prayer time, (used by members of the W.C.T.U. to pray for temperance), was stressed at the convention.

Mrs. McGentry told how beautifully Mrs. Perry Winch conducted the memorial service at the convention, for the two members of the county W.C.T.U. who had died during the year. Miss Lillian Holborne of Sutton West sang a beautiful memorial hymn during the memorial service. Later she sang a spring song.

Two new members, Mrs. Washington Winch and Miss Winnie Willoughby, were received at the Keswick meeting, at the previous meeting. Mrs. Ethel Morton was received as a new member.

Mrs. Erwin Winch served a delicious lunch. A vote of thanks was given to her for her hospitality.

Mrs. M. Atkinson of Keswick spent last Sunday with her brother in Queensville.

PEPPER AND SALT

BY "PEP"

The fair ground has rounded into shape after getting a good dose of sulphur and molasses the past week. The track is lightning fast. Some of the classy cyclists in the Dominion Day races took a feeler of the stretch Tuesday.

The feminine version of how softball should be played will be worth a gander. This Simpson squad is first-class material and both teams rate high in Toronto's softball "four hundred."

The diamond is a fair one. However, if the girls have distance in their hats, some of the cow-skins are likely to do some damage in the crowd.

There is always a surplus of priceless English thrown around by the managers and various aides-de-camp at the softball fixtures. These diamond arguments aren't prepared in advance and you really get some "slang-usage in the rough."

It's all for the good cause of "box-office." The fans enjoy short-order arguments. It's only the 20-minute sales talks that face them.

There's a switch in your softball dates. Aurora comes here as scheduled tonight. Friday night, Newmarket "takes a pullman" to King City. The game next Tuesday brings Richmond Hill to town in place of King.

If Niles is available he will pitch tonight, if not, Glover will take over the mound duties.

Just McKinnim, Stuart Scott school.

The W. C. T. U. are very grateful for the kind co-operation of the teachers and to Mrs. J. A. Matland for purchasing these prizes.

The prizes were presented to the pupils this week by Miss Bertha Neilly.

REPRINTED FROM ERA, JUNE 22, 1939

Old Boy Would Restore Historic Eagle St. Cemetery

Mr. and Mrs. George D. Johnson, Toronto, were visiting friends in Newmarket yesterday. They will be back for the reunion.

Mr. Johnson is the son of the late Jacob Johnson, Queen St., the contractor who built the Christian church. Mr. Johnson, who was just a small boy then, remembers his father taking him to the top of the steeple, and he remembers his father standing with his feet on the two cross-arms.

He recalled that the Brooks Wakefield family gave the money for the church.

Mr. Johnson's father, in addition to being a busy builder, had a small factory on Queen St., where he made fanning-mills. "Two rigs used to go out into the country every Monday and Thursday to sell the fanning-mills," Mr. Johnson recalled.

Mr. Johnson's father sold out and moved to Bracebridge when Mr. Johnson was 18. He is now 74 and there are not many Newmarket people he knows. He mentioned Dr. J. H. Wesley, Tom Watson, Al Binns, Bob Manning, Charles Lewis and Fred Hartley.

He recalled attending the district school under Mr. Rennie.

That was where Alexander Muir school now stands.

"The Methodist church and the school were on the same grounds," he said. "The Methodist cemetery was there too. The cemetery was moved to the union cemetery, and school was closed three days while they were moving it.

"The Anglican cemetery on Eagle St. should be moved too, or fixed up," said Mr. Johnson. "There are lots of the old boys who wouldn't mind going in there and helping to fix the stones up."

Mr. Johnson didn't go to school under Alexander Muir, but he recalled that the composer of the Maple Leaf Forever was a great quail player. "They used to play at the exhibition park. I remember shining up his quills. He used to like that."

He also recalled the occasion when Lord Dufferin laid the corner-stone of the Christian church. "There were arches built all through the town," he said.

Mr. Johnson suggested that a dinner should be arranged when the old-timers could get together at the reunion and recall the days that are gone.

gate with a pitcher and he gave us generous measure from a large tin can, by means of a tin pint or quart measure.

One day I feared I should be late for school, so I asked Dad to write me an excuse, which he did. However, on reading the note to my friend Jennie Howe on the way to school, we discovered the word "dilatory." We didn't like the sound of that, though we neither of us knew what it meant, so we put on all speed, arrived at school in time, and tore up the note.

Our neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Collins, chartered a band wagon and team of horses to take a load of people on a picnic to Lake Simcoe, and I was invited to go along, and went, although as it was on a Sunday, I still can't see how I got permission. Maybe Dad was away preaching elsewhere that Sunday. I went in wading and had a glorious time with water-melon for dessert!

My dad performed Henry Reinhardt's marriage ceremony. As he was a market gardener, he paid him with a bag of potatoes.

We youngsters all belonged to the Band of Hope, a temperance society. I don't think we ever planned a picnic to the woods for that society but what it poured rain!

Since beginning these articles, I have had mail from Mrs. J. A. Ashworth of Victoria, Miss M. K. Evans, Bruce Lloyd of Fort Frances, Chas. Haight of Detroit, Miss Gertie of Bala, Mrs. Edna McArthur Hunter of Toronto, Mrs. Clayton Armitage of Harbor Beach, Mich., besides several Newmarket friends.

Many thanks for your kind invitation to attend the Old Boys' Reunion. Nothing would give us greater pleasure than to be present. I feel sure it will be a grand success and piles of fun. Sorry it is impossible to get away. Best wishes to all our old friends.

Dear Sir:
I hope to be with you at the end of the week, accepting your kind invitation. I may bring my brother and sister with me.
Sincerely yours,
W. E. Foster.
Dear Sir:
I shall be up to your reunion on July 1 and 2, and hope to meet some old friends.
Yours truly,
W. C. Corbett.
Dear Friends and Chaudes of the 230th Battalion:
I cannot find words adequate to express my thanks in remembering me to be present at the reunion, but sorry that my long illness, nearly four years in hospital, prevents me from being with you in person, will be there in heart and thought.
As ever,
Little Artie Bogart.
Lindsay, Ont.
Dear Sir:
My husband and I are trying our best to be with you for two days of this grand old reunion. My husband is Tommy Eade, who worked in the Office Specialty for several years after 1902. He was pitcher in the baseball team at that time. Wishing you all kinds of success in your undertaking, and hoping it will be a yonty get-together.
I am,
Yours truly,
Mrs. Alice Burton Eade, 60 St. Paul St., Lindsay.
Dear Sir:
Will be up on July 1 for Newmarket reunion.
Yours very truly,
W. Chapman, 127th Battalion.
1466 Dundas St. W., Toronto, Ont.
Dear Fellow Newmarketers:
Since I left the town has lived half a century and has progressed accordingly. Two years ago my sister, Miss Marjorie Bastedo, Dr. Nelson Gorham Russell and I motored up, looked the town over, and had delightful visits with Dr. Joe Wesley, Al. Huns, Edgar Bogart, Tom Watson, Bob Manning and others. We noted many changes. As medical men Russell and I were struck with the value to the town of the Newmarket hospital.
The reunion should prove to be a highly interesting occasion. May you all have a jolly "get together!"
Sincerely yours,
Walter Arthur Bastedo, M. D.
Dear Sir:
My husband, Dr. C. W. Armitage, better known at high school as "Clate", and I are planning to arrive in Newmarket for the reunion on Saturday and Sunday, July 1-2. We were born in Newmarket and attended high school under J. E. Dickson and J. E. Hollingshead, and W. A. J. Martin. I am the daughter of Robert W. Pearson, and my name was "Chas. Pearson." Can be found at Ed. Richardson's Prospect Ave., or S. E. Armitage, Botsford St.
Mrs. G. W. Armitage, 325 Stale, Harbor Beach, Mich.
126 Sixth Ave. W., Calgary, Alta.
Dear Sir:
Thank you for "Reunion News" which I have read with much interest. Though it is 35 years since

I left Newmarket, I still affectionately think of the town of my birth, and I am sorry I cannot be there for the coming festivities.
Thanking you on behalf of my husband, as well as myself.
Sincerely yours,
Mary I. Anderson, (nee Mamie Millard).
484 Adelaide St., Woodstock, Ont.
Dear Sir:
Thank you so much for your kind invitation to Old Boys' Reunion. I am looking forward with pleasure to spending part of the time there.
Hope you have ideal weather, record crowd, and it will be great seeing old friends once more.
Kind regards to all.
Sincerely,
Mrs. Frank Butler, (Grace Johns).
207 Broadway, Rochester, N. Y.
Dear Sir:
Many thanks for the invitation to attend Newmarket Old Boys' Reunion. In your list of old residents I see many I remember. Will make an effort to attend if only for a few hours.
Mrs. William H. Fondrick, (nee May Brock).
Florida P.O., Ont.
Dear Sir:
Thanks a lot for the invitation to the reunion. All being well, I hope to be there. My father and mother moved to Newmarket when I was about nine years old. I attended the public school where Miss Kelly, Miss Ross and Miss Evans were my teachers, and Mr. Rainey was principal, but I never remember having to be sent to Mr. Rainey's room for "the rubber." In Mrs. Thos. Eade's letter I see a good many names of girls and boys I knew in those days, and it certainly will be a pleasure to see a good many of them at the reunion. It is rather late to send in names, but if you have not done so already, please send an invitation to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Day, Kenora, Ont. Fred Day used to work in the old lannery that stood just east of the Huron St. bridge, and Mrs. Day was my oldest sister. I am enclosing a one dollar bill, so please hold my seat ticket and leave until I call for it.
Yours very truly,
Thos. P. Travels.
Dear Sir:
I am writing to thank you for the invitation to attend "Newmarket Old Boys' Reunion." I sincerely hope to do so, for it would give me pleasure untold to meet many old acquaintances.
Sincerely yours,
M. H. Annette Allan, (Mrs. J. A. W. Allan), 1 Governors Road, Rosedale, Toronto.
Box 473 Aurora.
Many thanks for your invitation to attend the Old Boys' Reunion on July 1 and 2, to meet many of my friends.
Yours truly,
(Mrs.) Annie McLeod.
108 Broadbaine St., Hamilton, Ont.
Dear Sir:
I am very sorry to have kept you waiting so long for a reply to your letters, but Mrs. Low's health has not been very good, and we were not sure that we could come, but as she is feeling considerably better, we hope to come on Friday and stay a few days, and we feel sure we will have a real swell time.
Yours truly,
W. G. Low.

YOU'LL MEET THEM AROUND TOWN DURING REUNION

Here is a group of Newmarket "old boys" who have not wandered far from home. Top left is George Muir, son of Alexander Muir, composer of "The Maple Leaf Forever." Mr. Muir was born in January, 1859. Next is Dr. J. H. Wesley, Newmarket's M. O. H., one of the town's best known and most successful "old boys." Top right is Eugene Cane, son of William Cane, the town's first mayor. Mr. Cane is interviewed in this issue. Bottom left is T. C. Watson, optometrist, who verifies George D. Johnson's statement about his father, Jacob Johnson, standing on the cross-arms of the Christian church, which he built. Mr. Watson remembers his own father, A. R. Watson, climbing the steeple with a compass to set the cross-arms correctly. Bottom right is Sir William Mulock, photographed on the veranda of his summer home, Yonge St., on Sunday after he had returned from a church parade in Aurora. In 1859, the year Mr. Muir, an octogenarian, was born, Sir William was entering university. All photos by The Era.

LETTERS FROM OLD BOYS

Dear Sir:
In sending in my letter yesterday I forgot to have said to please send a notice to an old girl living in Burton Harbor, Mich., who used to go to school in Newmarket, and her father kept the north end grocery store on Huron St., and we were at the school in Mr. Renne's time. Miss Lock, Miss Evans, also Miss Norman, and her address is Mrs. G. A. Hector, Box 261, Henton Harbor, Mich., U.S.A. (nee Elwin Dalese).
From Mrs. Bromer, 201 Castlefield Ave., Toronto.
2101 Queen St. E., Toronto, Ont.
Dear Sir:
I appreciate very much the trouble you have taken in locating all we "Old Timers." I spent my childhood days in Newmarket, living on Prospect St., and attending that school. The Misses Cody, Kelly, Ross and Hilday were my teachers, and Mr. Harvey was the principal. I should love to attend all four days, but owing to other affairs, it is impossible, but will make an effort to be in town Sunday, July 2.
Wishing you every success, I remain,
Yours very truly,
Mrs. Roy Moore, (nee Stella Williamson).
Dear Sir:
I received your kind invitation to attend the Old Boys' Reunion some time ago, and have neglected writing in the hopes that I might be able to attend, but on account of sickness I find that it will be impossible for me to be with you. As you will note by the letter head that I am in the hotel business, and it so happens that our manager is on the sick list, hence I have to stay on the job. It is 47 years since I came west. I still recall many happy times I had as a boy when I worked in the sash and door department of the Wm. Cane & Sons factory, and nothing would please me more than to meet with the old gang that used to play on sawdust line between the factory and the saw-mill. I was especially pleased to see the picture of the lacrosse team of 1890, as it brought back happy memories, also the one of the lacrosse club. I remember many times seeing them going past our home early Sunday mornings on their way to the lake and other points. I would like to have seen a picture of the Newmarket band under the leadership of J. C. Quinlan. We had a real band at that time, and I presume you still have a good band, as Newmarket was always a musical city. We have a number of Canadians here in New Rockford, but I am the only one from Newmarket at present. Mr. G. A. Brown, who used to drive the bus from the Foraythe House to the depot for Mrs. Foraythe, passed on about four years ago. If any of the old boys should be touring the Canadian North West, I would be glad to meet them, as we are only 100 miles from the border, and 130 from the International Peace Gardens, and about 200 from Brandon (just a little side trip).
I hope and trust that the celebration will be a huge success, and looking forward to visiting Newmarket in 1940, I am,
Yours respectfully,
Henry Wilson.

Miss Ruth Webb and Miss Agnes Oliver of Toronto spent the weekend with Miss Hazel Webb.

The annual strawberry festival, under the auspices of the United church, will be held on the evening of July 1, on the church lawn. A splendid supper is being planned, and an excellent program is arranged, consisting of Jack McCreight, xylophonist, Ted Rust, (Canada's Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy) ventriloquist, Murray Huntley, tenor soloist, Gracie Stevens, modelling cow girl with Hawaiian accompanist. Everyone is asked to come and bring their friends.

Snowball public school took part in the musical festival at Kettleby on Friday evening last. A large audience enjoyed the excellent program, when east and north King schools evidenced the success of their musical instructor, H. F. Jackson.

The Women's Institute will meet at the home of Mrs. Frank Williams on Wednesday afternoon, June 28. The roll call will be answered by a cool supper dish or a hot weather drink. There will be a report of the district annual by Mrs. Harry Mills, music current by Mrs. Gordon Beckett, an address and demonstration on the St. John's Ambulance Association first aid work by the Aurora firemen, and a lucky draw for a box of candy. Proceeds will go toward the flower box.

EVERSLEY FINE SERVICES MARK 105TH ANNIVERSARY

Friends are glad that Mr. Norman Ferguson is convalescing nicely in St. Michael's hospital, Toronto, after his sudden illness, necessitating an emergency operation. He hopes to return home some time this week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ferguson of Toronto called at "Scotts Wha Hae" to make some final arrangements for the Ferguson reunion to be held at Cedarvale school for girls, near Georgetown on Saturday, June 30. Miss Jessie Oliver, principal of the school, will be hostess. This is the last call to the Ferguson clan. Come one, come all!

Sunday was a holy day at Eversley Presbyterian church. It was beautiful weather. June freshness and the beauty of flowers made a grand setting for the 105th anniversary of this fine old stone church.

Rev. Mr. Hiltz of Davenport Rd. church, Toronto, was the guest speaker, and his two services were of a high order, beautiful in their simplicity, and practical in their conclusions. They were much enjoyed and appreciated.

His text for the morning was Isa. 28: 20, a most striking text, and one to be remembered: "For the bed is shorter than that a man can stretch himself on it; and the covering narrower than that he can wrap himself in it."

Eversley choir, assisted by a trio from Snowball, and Mrs. Fred Wicks, Jr., from Markham, as soloist, rendered splendid musical service in the morning. The trio were Mr. Williams, C. Copson and Bob Turp, with Mrs. E. Copson presiding at the organ.

In the evening Mr. Hiltz' subject was "The Tragedy of Uselessness," from Luke 13, the parable of the barren fig tree. Richmond Hill Presbyterian choir gave generously of their music at the evening service.

The church was nicely filled at both services, members being filled from the tenth, ninth and sixth churches, and friends from miles around came "home" for the occasion. The social atmosphere after the services was delightful and heartening.

After the evening service, lunch was enjoyed by the visiting choir, Mr. Hiltz and others.

On Tuesday evening the climax was reached when the strawberry festival was held in one of the beauty spots of this beautiful third of King.

The correspondent is much interested in the old boys' and girls' reunion being held this week in Newmarket. Four of the Ferguson family, Rev. Henry S. Ferguson of China, Rev. I. Albert Ferguson, Prof. Walter S. Ferguson and Miss Alice A. Ferguson all attended high school and model school in Newmarket.

Victoria Square

Anniversaries and garden festivals are the order of the day in this community.

Owing to the Hedford anniversary last Sunday, Rev. Mr. Macdonald was unable to take charge of the service at the Square.

Arrangements had been made to have a talk illustrated with lantern slides in the afternoon, but Rev. Mr. Gilles of Toronto, who was the guest speaker at Hedford, morning and evening, came over to Victoria Square in the afternoon and delivered a splendid sermon based on John 10:10, "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly."

"In summing up our Christian experiences we might classify them under the one word, 'life,'" stated the speaker. "We should be continually seeking a more abundant life but let us not follow the example of the Prodigal Son and seek 'life' so diligently that we lose it in our very seeking."

In the evening, at Hedford, Mr. Gilles addressed his large congregation from a text found in Deuteronomy 12: 13 and 14.

The choir from Melville was also present and assisted in the service of praise. Four of the junior ladies sang a beautiful quartet, "Take Time to be Holy." The choir sang the anthem, "Jesus Saviour pilot me," and the male quartet also sang.

ROYAL VISIT LENDS INSPIRATION TO SOME OF EXHIBITS AT SCHOOL SHOW

By GOLDEN GLOW

The exhibition of work done by the three public schools in the past year, was held last Friday evening, at the Stuart Scott school. As you entered the door there was "exhibit number one" facing you on the east wall opposite the staircase. It was a delightful mural of "Little Sambo," painted by Miss Staunton's senior art class. Little Sambo, the tigers, the tree they all ran around, the little parasol and all! It was well worth a trip over to see, if one saw nothing else.

But that was just a start; there were, as usual, wonderful things to see in the manual training and in the domestic science rooms upstairs and in the upper hall. All along the stairway were more exhibits of art work, and believe me, it was a grand display. In the upper hall were more by the room to the southeast was the special art room, and many and varied were the subjects of the paintings and the drawings. They were all splendidly done and reflected a great credit on Miss Staunton's ability to impart a difficult subject.

The royal train and the Empress of Australia were favorites, naturally, while there were a good many of the Red Indian Service station on Eagle St.—very well done, too—and I heard that the general proprietor, Mr. Wm. White, when he found they were making a study of the service station, offered a prize for the best one.

There were several homes in town done both in drawings and in water colors, easily recognized (so you can see they were well done!). The murals were particularly praiseworthy. The Haunted Wood with its witches and bats and owls and shadows, and twisted tree trunks and gnomes, I looked to see if there was a black cat and a toad or two, but there were so many people I couldn't get a full view of it. Then Miss Staunton's class besides had made splendid little models of houses, cardboard, of course, and gaily painted, besides wonderful works of art out of cakes of soap (sculpture). I think the children have made wonderful progress since the exhibit last fall.

The work in the manual training department is always fascinating, and this year I think it was even more so. Mr. Jackson's boys, the senior classes, did some very remarkable and clever work. Must stands, shoe-shine cabinets, magazine racks and one chap had made a bed-table, adjustable, so that if one desired to read it could be tilted to the proper angle.

Mr. Forbes' boys had several new designs as well—one that everybody was delighted with was the napkin ring with the Scottie-dog standing beside it, a sort of wooden pitcher to hold soap-flakes, a box affair to attach to your verandah railing for your daily newspaper, all sorts of garden cut-out ornaments fastened to long stakes, and the largest exhibit was a coffee-table and, as I said, all were beautifully done.

Mr. Forbes made a beautiful little doll's house last year, and this year he and his pupils made a neat little floor bookcase. I am always interested in their unique bird-houses—I think every boy likes to make them! There were many other designs as well, of course, but I do not pretend to make this a complete, comprehensive checking-up on the various exhibits, just a few impressions left by the evening's visit to the school. And I assure you they are many and varied, and all pleasant.

As always the room was gay with flowers on the window-sills, but for beauty you should see the huge baskets of pink and white peonies placed up on the cabinets in the domestic science room.

Dorothy Dales and Dorothy Thompson, who were responsible, are to be congratulated.

Miss Deime's and Miss Hamby's department always presents a beautiful picture as you enter the door, with the gaily-colored finished garments encircling the room. This year it was extra special, for every shade of the rainbow was exhibited in the dainty pastel-colored aprons which covered half of the east wall.

Besides the dainty aprons the older girls had made smocks and house-dresses—and embroidered purses—the younger ones made lunch sets, and they were remarkably well done.

Younger ones still made cap and apron sets and pot-holders, etc.

There was a woven rug, too, that I saw. And in the corner besides the older girls' organdy aprons was a black sateen one, made peasant style, done in a Mexican applique. And it called forth a good deal of approving comment. It was beautifully done. It was a Mexican on a white horse and another Mexican standing, wearing one of those enormous Mexican sunshade hats.

The girls were all excited over the sample trays of breakfast, lunch, invalid cooking and school lunches, and a boy of them went round with us as we made the rounds. If those trays of delicious foods did not tempt people, nothing would. The girls, two or three to a tray, composed the menu and prepared the food, and by the way, the menu cards were all works of art; one was shaped like a cat and painted to look quite life-like. A good deal of time and thought must have gone into the arranging of those trays, and we all thought we would like to stay for breakfast and have a tray like that handed to us.

Nearly every one displayed strawberries, and this year's strawberries are certainly extra special. Each tray was arranged so daintily and so attractively that I am sure it must have been hard for the judge.

Mrs. R. E. Manning poured tea and the girls who served their numberless callers were pretty uniforms and dispensed hospitality like old hands at the game. It is always amusing to see how the boys on duty in the manual training room try to make an excuse to go into the domestic science room in the hope that a cookie or two might stray over their way. (And a few do manage to stray that way. Miss Deime and Miss Hamby saw to that!)

It was with regret that we learned that Miss Scott is leaving the teaching staff this year—it will be hard to replace her. We also hear that Mr. Jackson will hand over the responsibility of the manual training to Mr. Allan Forbes and Mr. Purdy will be assistant. Mr. Jackson will now be able to devote all his time to being principal—which, at best, is pretty strenuous.

Altogether, it was, to my mind, equal or even better than any of the pupils have previously held. Mrs. J. C. R. Edwards presented the prizes and other members of the Home and School club were in evidence. The weather, too, was all that could be desired; the only things we found not so agreeable were the mosquitoes that came in the open windows attracted by the light. No doubt the lawn bowlers on the bowling green just east of the school drove them over to us with the smudge they had built to ward them off their way.

On the way home several of us caught an enormous night moth with a wing-span of over six inches. It is like a huge butterfly with circles, like eyes, on its wings, and beautifully marked. We still have it and if the school would like it for their collection I'd be glad to give it to them.

The young people are holding their meeting this week on Tuesday evening at the home of Bert Scott.

Prayer meeting will be held Wednesday at 8 o'clock.

The Dorcas society will meet again July 5 at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Fred Knights. All ladies are cordially invited.

Plans are being made for the Sunday-school picnic to be held July 13 at Jackson's Point.

Not Fit to Print

A school girl was required to write an essay of 250 words about a motor-car. She submitted the following:

"My uncle bought a motor-car.
He was driving in the country when it broke down. I guess this is about 25 words. The other 225 are what my uncle said when he was walking back to town but they are not fit for publication."

VIVIAN IS PRESENTED WITH CHAIR ON BIRTHDAY

Last Wednesday afternoon, June
22, the home of George McCormack was the scene of festivities marking his 75th birthday. About 50 of his friends and relatives from Toronto, Peterborough and other places, and the majority of the citizens of the community assembled and spent a very enjoyable time together.

Mr. McCormack was the recipient of many gifts and good wishes and the ladies of the church presented him with a lawn chair.
Supper was served on the lawn, after which Mr. McCormack showed lantern slides. A collection of $25 was received for the church work.

On Saturday evening, Wilfred
Needler celebrated his 21st birthday at his home, among the young people of the community. He received many useful gifts. After an evening of games and music, they sat down to a bountiful supper.

Mr. Rowan spoke a few words in appreciation of Wilfred's services in church work. Everyone reported a good time.

Herbert Phoenix has accepted a mechanic's position in Newmarket and intends moving there in the near future.

Mr. George McCormack is reshingling his house.
Mr. Shackman's usual summer guests are arriving, and his cabin and home will soon be filled again with many happy children and their parents for another season.
He has installed a new dam at his lake and the swimming facilities will be a great improvement. John McPherson and his cousin, Harold McCollum, who have just finished their exams in Toronto, are holidaying here.

house down and is remodeling it.
The family are living at the old
McCormack hotel in the meantime.

On Sunday morning Mr. Mc-Pherson had charge of the Sunday-school as usual. About 40 were present. In the evening Mr.
Troyer preached from John 8: 16.
He is a very able speaker and was formerly a student of the People's Training School, in Toronto, and a member of Oswald Smith's church. He and his wife are at present living at Pine Orchard.

Everyone is hoping to see a good shower of rain soon, as the gardens and crops are very dry.

FIRST MAYOR

north of Huron, and used to supply the saw-mills with steam-engines," Mr. Cane said. "The country was full of saw-mills. Wm. Cane bought out Sykes. After a couple of years the foundry was burned down, and was never rebuilt. My father built a tannery for Parks & Peckham. That too was burned down after a number of years."

In those days the farmers were clearing the land of the timber. It was a nuisance to them.

"In the winter-time there were three sets of tracks up the town-line, made by the sleighs bringing in the timber," recalled Mr. Cane. "There would be as many as 200 loads in a day. We got a lot of timber just for handling it, trimming it up and taking it away. Lumber that was then worth about $9 a thousand is now worth $40. Today you can hardly get virgin timber anywhere."

Mr. Cane also recalled the busy scene when grain crops were harvested and the farmers began to bring their crops to town.

"Farmers didn't feed their grain like they do today," said Mr. Cane. "The town was alive with teams. There were four or five buyers at the station, and the grain was loaded on the cars. There were two or three grist-mills too that bought grain."

"Farmers came from all directions, but mostly from the north and east. We had a wonderful grain market here."

"The men in the factory worked from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. for 90 cents a day, and their firewood from the mill, for the cost of hauling," Mr. Cane recalled. "Living, of course, was much cheaper. Salt pork was nine cents and was used a great deal. Good beef was only ten cents."

Mr. Cane's brother, the late H. S. Cane, became, like his father, mayor of Newmarket, and a son of H. S. Cane, W. H. S. Cane, present high sheriff of York county, also served as mayor of Newmarket.

William Cane's wife was Catherine Belfry, born north of Queensville. Her father had come from Montreal and never learned to speak English.

Mr. Eugene Cane is the only surviving member of a family of 12 children. He recalls how when the family moved to the fifth of East Gwillimbury and there was no school there, his father engaged a private teacher and turned one room of his house into a school for his own family. Later he persuaded his fellow settlers to join in building a school.

A Baby went to Town

There is an amusing story told of Mr. Eugene Cane's childhood, and Mr. Cane himself does not deny its truth.

When he was three years old, and the family was living in Queensville, his father was going to Newmarket by horse and buggy.

He had been coaxing his father to take him with him, but without success. His mother carried him out to the buggy, in night-gown, and placed him in the buggy for a moment.

While no one was looking, he crawled under the seat, and his father came out and drove away to Newmarket. They got to Newmarket, the baby still under the seat. Mr. Cane, Sr., drove into the yard of the Belsford Hotel, where the Wesley Block now is. He got out of the buggy, and was talking to a friend. Meanwhile, the infant under the seat, in his night-gown, thought he would take a peek out. The friend noticed the curtain move and said to Mr.

SOME INTERESTING OLD TIMERS

Here is an interesting group of Newmarket old boys and old girls who have passed on. Their names will be among the many recalled by visitors at the old boys' reunion on June 22, June 23, July 1 and 2. Top left is Erastus Jackson, for many years proprietor of The Era, and a one-time independent Reform candidate for the federal riding of North York. Next is his wife, who was Sophia Wright of Guelph. Next is Mrs. Robert Millard whose maiden name was Maria Kester. Top right is Robert Millard, who for many years was the only milk vendor in Newmarket. He was a son of Timothy Millard. Bottom left are Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Proctor. Mrs. Proctor was Mary Millard, a sister of John S. Millard. The late J. H. Proctor, of Arden Ave., was a son. Bottom right is John S. Millard (1824-1912), an uncle of Robert, and also a great-grandson of Joseph Millard, one of Newmarket's U. E. L. settlers. The Jackson and John S. Millard families are connected through the marriage of a daughter, Ella M. Jackson, to David Millard, a son of John S. Misses Pearl and Geraldine Millard of Newmarket are their daughters.

Chicken Blood Gave Victory In Election

No one today living can tell the story of the failure of the agreement between the Christian church and the town for the installation of a four-faced clock in the tower of the church, so far as he knows, Fred Hartry, D'Arcy St., told The Era last week.

An historical account of the laying of the corner-stone of this church by the Earl of Dufferin, which appeared in a recent Era, recalled this agreement which came to naught. The tower of the church to this day has four clock-less fronts.

Mr. Hartry does remember, however, lots of things about Newmarket's earlier days, and in view of Newmarket's approaching reunion was quite ready to recall them.

Eighty-one years old last January, Mr. Hartry was born in Pickering. His mother was Annie Simmons, daughter of Richard Simmons, a flour miller, and was born in Newmarket in 1837 and was baptised in St. Paul's church in 1838. His father, John Hartry, was born in 1831.

The family moved to Newmarket from Whitby in 1866, the Fenian Raid year, as Mr. Hartry recalled.

"I can remember seeing the red-coats climbing on the cars at Whitby," he said.

"I remember 1867 quite clearly," Mr. Hartry went on, in reply to questions. "That was Confederation year. Our common school had a picnic upon the hill where Newmarket cemetery now is. Robert Alexander was the teacher of the district school, where Alexander Muir school is now. Alexander Muir followed Robert Alexander, and I finished school with him."

"Robert Alexander's assistant was Miss Fraser, who taught up to the second book."

"The reeve was either Alfred Boulbee or Donald Sutherland, who followed him. I fancy Erastus Jackson followed shortly after Sutherland. Jackson arrived here in 1853 with the first train into Newmarket."

"Along in the early seventies there was an election for reeve. The two candidates were Nelson Gorham, who had the woolen mills, and Samuel Lukes, who had the mill at the north end, which Robinson & Weeks had recently. The voting was open in the Mechanics' hall, where the Oddfellows hall now is. The hall was made over."

"At 5 o'clock there was a tie, and E. P. Irwin, village clerk, who owned and resided on what is now Pickering College farm, gave the casting-vote to his friend, Gorham."

"They used to fight for the reeveship then like they do now for parliament."

"Mr. Irwin's salary in the sixties was $50 a year as clerk and treasurer and $1 for selecting jurors."

"In 1867 or 1868 the 7th Hussars cricket team and band played here. Alfred Boulbee bowled for Newmarket. Lem Atkinson, the jeweller, was one of the best batsmen north of Toronto. The Newmarket team was one of the best."

"Lacrosse replaced cricket about the eighties."

"The voters would crowd around," Mr. Hartry said in reply to a question concerning the open voting. "Those who came last would have to be carried in over the heads of the crowd. Some would promise both parties, but they wouldn't be able to satisfy both with open voting."

"About 1865 Dr. Hunter was running for reeve. He lived where Bert Green, the painter, now lives. He was running for reeve and he was supposed to have staggered home, blood on his face, after having been assaulted by his opponents. Sympathy elected him. Some people were even arrested on a charge of assault and taken to Toronto. Afterwards it leaked out that it was a hoax, and that his face had been sprinkled with chicken blood. He subsequently moved away to a farm in Whitechurch. "Reeves never stayed very long until Jackson got in. He was a great authority on municipal law. He must have been reeve for ten years at a stretch, maybe longer."

"He was disappointed in an effort to get the Liberal nomination for the provincial house in 1874. The McMaster family, whose store where W. J. Patterson's home now is was the biggest between Toronto and Barrie, did not like Jackson, and put forward a young chap, Dr. Widdifield. Widdifield got the nomination and Jackson ran as an independent. Widdifield was elected and was the youngest member of the house."

"He had two or three terms and then was appointed sheriff of the county. E. J. Davis was the next to win the Liberal nomination. Dr. Widdifield brought in Thomas Radcliffe to establish the North York Reformer. Widdifield built the Imperial Bank building and the Reformer was in the office where Osborne's plumbing shop now is. When Widdifield went out of politics, the Reformer gradually died out. Subsequently the late Herbert Binns, a brother of G. A. Binns, started a small paper, but it didn't take any part politically. (Geo. Binns, father of G. A. Binns, earlier had started a Conservative newspaper, the Courier, which he sold to George Fox, but continued in the stationery and job printing business. The Courier became Radcliffe's North York Reformer.)

"J. D. McKay started the Express-Herald as a real Conservative paper."

Among the first reunion visitors at The Era office today were Fred J. Raper, 85, Meaford, and Leslie Bogart, of Tuxford, Sask. Mr. Bogart motored east with Herbert Foote and his son, Jack, both of Belbeck, Sask.
